

The Storytelling Sims

Wayne & Jane Sims

Humorists, Historians, & Tandem Tellers

Dedicated to Entertainment & Humor, this Charming Couple presents Tales from Tradition, Legend, Lore, Literature & Life

The Storytelling Sims tell stories of Florida, Appalachia, and the South. The result is 26 consecutive years performing at the renowned "Florida Folk Festival." Other appearances include 15 years stepping aboard St. Johns Riverkeeper Eco-Heritage boat cruises on the St. Johns River as William Bartram and Constance Fenimore Woolson, "America's First Travel Writers"; as Florida Humanities Scholars performing "All's Fair in Love & War" the love story of Florida's native born Confederate General Edmund Kirby-Smith and his bride Cassie Selden; "Holding Down the Homefront: Florida During World War II"; "When Florida Was the Wild West"; "Legend & Lore of the St. Johns River"; "Oldest City Tourism: 1870 - 1940"; "Theater of the Mind: Storytelling" at Limelight Theatre in St. Augustine, FL, & as workshop presenters for conference and classroom . . . along with hundreds of appearances at special events, festivals, retirement communities, schools, historical societies, and libraries from Florida's River of Grass to Carolina's Blue Ridge. ~~~ StoryBuff@aol.com.